Bishop McGuinness High School opened its doors as Catholic High School in 1950. The forty acres bordering Northwest Fiftieth Street were, at the time, on the north fringe of Oklahoma City. In 1951, the school adopted the colors of Kelly green and white and in 1955, the school selected "The Irish" as its official nickname with Clancy as the mascot. In 1959, Catholic High School officially became Bishop McGuinness High School.

The school is dedicated to maintaining its student body diversity, keeping tuition costs affordable and offering financial assistance to qualified students. There are 13 Parish schools in the area. Students come from a variety of socioeconomic and ethnic backgrounds, a blend of cultures and heritages. The community atmosphere prepares students to live and work together successfully as adults. Over 99% of students pursue a university education.

Through prudent planning and investing, the school has been able to help many students receive a quality Catholic education through the Work Grant Program. Donor generated scholarship and endowment funds have grown from the original Bishop's Scholarship Fund of $100,000 to more than $2,540,000 today to provide financial assistance. The Class of 2022 has been offered grants and scholarships totaling more than $11 million.

About one-fifth of current families are considered multi-generational McGuinness alumni families.

CAMPUS

As the population of the Oklahoma City Catholic community has grown, so has the enrollment of the school. Bishop McGuinness Catholic High School has benefitted from continuous improvements to its 40-acre campus during its 75-year history. Capital improvements spanning decades have drastically changed the layout of the original campus.

Over the past 25 years campus improvements include construction of the BMCHS education center and new gym, an indoor baseball facility, the Blessed Pier Giorgio Frassati Chapel, as well as additions of a new weight room, locker rooms, and coaches' offices along with the stadium field house and stadium facade projects.

Most recently, enhancements have included a new concession stand south of the football stadium, a new math and science wing, the addition of 5 more classrooms, and a 75-person multipurpose lecture hall. The area underneath the stadium was remodeled providing offices, locker rooms, restrooms, and storage for athletics. Construction was completed on a $2.1 million All-Girls Sports Complex. The facility houses girls cheer, pom, cross country, soccer, and track. The facility also includes visitors concessions and restrooms for teams and fans. The baseball complex was updated with a new entryway, plaza, concessions, press box, and grandstands. A new scoreboard was added completing the updates.

Today, a 42-classroom building stands to meet the needs of a multi-talented diverse student body. There is currently a $6 million capital campaign to provide six new classrooms, restrooms, and space for the growing advancement department.

FAITH LIFE

Toward the Top! is the motto of BMCHS, inspired by Blessed Pier Giorgio Frassati. These words serve as a reminder that all are encouraged to use the unique gifts and talents with which they have been blessed by God so that together the Kingdom of God can be built in this life. Toward the Top! is about reaching goals, reaching out to others, and reaching out to God who loves each person and wants all to be close to him.

Bishop McGuinness Catholic High School is blessed with a part-time priest chaplain. The school works in partnership with parishes to foster the faith formation and active participation in parish life for its students. The experience of Church lived out in the local parish is the primary ecclesial relationship, and students and their parents are encouraged to participate fully in the life of their parish community.

Blessed Pier Giorgio Frassati was selected as a patron for the school by the faculty, students, and staff of BMCHS in 1995. The Blessed Pier Giorgio Frassati Chapel is open for personal prayer and reflection, with the Blessed Sacrament present in the chapel. Mass and other services are celebrated throughout the year. Adoration and confession are available during the week.

As part of the school's Catholic identity, students are called to reach out to the poor, vulnerable, suffering, and marginalized through sincere acts of charity. Students complete a minimum of 90 hours of volunteer service as a graduation requirement with service hours completed with a registered "Verso l'Alto Partner" organization.

ACADEMICS

The school maintains a learning environment reflective of its mission, offering “excellence in education for the whole person” with a balanced emphasis on spirituality, academics, and community participation. A predominantly college preparatory curriculum challenges students academically with over 100 course offerings, including 22 AP Courses.

The academic program at BMCHS seeks to prepare students to become successful in post high school endeavors. Through the testing program, counseling, teacher recommendations and consultation with parents, students are placed in courses which take into consideration the course objectives and goals, as well as their aspirations, academic skills, and work ethic.

Curriculum has been developed to meet the needs of all students to be successful in the content area and provide instruction that meets the academic expectations of the student as they enter university. Critical thinking, problem solving, and skills needed to be a successful student are included in all curricula. Further instruction, such as concurrent enrollment, is offered in certain courses to give additional opportunities for growth in which students may earn college credit by taking college courses on a college campus.

The REACH Program (Realizing Excellence; Achieving Competency in High School) was established to offer support, guidance, and remedial instruction to students diagnosed with learning differences. Students complete on-level general education coursework with accommodations specific to their learning needs with the support of certified teachers.

The average ACT and SAT scores of BMCHS students are above national, state, and regional norms. The past several years, graduates have been awarded grants and scholarships totaling more than $4.5 million and more than 98% continue their education in colleges and universities throughout the country and abroad. Annually, multiple students are selected to participate as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. In 2021-2022, The College Board recognized 108 BMCHS students as Advanced Placement Scholars for their exceptional achievement.
